What Does the Bible Teach?: A Systematic Study of God For the Everyday Christian Mrs. Nancy A. Almodovar PhD

This series has been structured to give the every day, white-collared and blue-collared Christian a broader understanding of their God, their Bible and the great salvation that was accomplished through Jesus Christ. It is not an all encompassing study, but touches upon valuable points that are often overlooked in today's pulpits as well as in Bible Studies or Sunday School classes. Far from the "small group" dynamic that has become popular, this series seeks to deepen the believer's knowledge and understanding so that they are, as the Apostle Peter said, "be ready always to give an answer to every man who asks you for a reason for the hope that is in you". The series will begin with a general introduction to Systematic Theology and other Theological Disciplines, to the Doctrine of God, the Bible and its Authority and Inspiration through to the Law and Salvation in the Old Testament. It is my sincere prayer that from this series, believers young and old will be able to connect the dots of doctrine that are found scattered throughout the Scriptures and formulate a concise and distinct theological outlook for their everyday lives.
